Believe I Will (A Short Story) Max Winter

This story was originally published in Day One, a weekly literary journal dedicated to short fiction and poetry from emerging writers.

Mild-mannered Tim takes his job at a fast-food restaurant seriously, waking in the dark hours of the morning to manage a group of apathetic, underpaid employees. One day, he receives a phone call from someone claiming to be someone he isn't. What follows—an accusation of theft against a subordinate employee, a reprimand, and a shocking and degrading personal violation—is as inexplicable as it is abhorrent.

Based on a disturbing true story, Believe I Will is an attempt to understand how gullibility, despair, and the drive to humiliate can come together to render terrible, senseless acts.
